COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The tax rate for 1964 has been set at $10.00 per thousand dollars valuation. This is a drop of one mill from the rate of $11 mills last year. Although there seemed to be a normal amount of new construction, the total valuation of the town only increased a little over $10,000.00. The value of the town for 1963 was $6,496,291.00 and this year it is $6,507,753.00. The loss of over $30,000.00 in commercial valuation is the reason that the increase in total valuation was not larger. I might add that some commercial values were decreased by a substantial amount, some were increased by a substantial amount, and some remained very near the same as they were last year. The net result is an increase of about $10,000.00 for the total town valuation.

On Monday of this week two members of the board of selectmen and the town manager went to Augusta to discuss the value of the town that is determined by the State Bureau of Taxation. For state purposes the value of the town will probably increase about $200,000.00. There are many reasons for this increase and the selectmen were satisfied that an increase this year will be necessary. The town will now have a state valuation of about $3,950,000.00. The state figure is used mainly to determine subsidies and apportion the town's share of the county tax.

I didn't mention earlier that the typing of the commitment book and tax bills was started Tuesday of this week. The tax bills will all be mailed at one time, about Oct. 13.

NATIONAL HIGHWAY WEEK IN MAINE OCT. 4-10

Governor John H. Reed has proclaimed the period from October 4-10 as National Highway Week in Maine. In so doing he asked the people "to give their wholehearted recognition and support to the tremendous highway program that is being carried on throughout Maine and the United States."

Participating in the proclamation signing ceremony with Gov. Reed in his State House office were David H. Stevens, chairman, and Guy E. Nicholas, director of special services, State Highway Commission, and Sterling Highway of Augusta, president, and Edward F. Cox, executive director, Maine Good Roads Association.

The observance is being sponsored in Maine by the Commission and association and nationally by the American Association of State Highway Officials. Nicholas and Cox are co-chairmen.

Gov. Reed's proclamation called attention to the construction of Interstate 95 that will upon completion stretch 312 miles from Kittery to the Canadian border at Houlton, as well as the modernization of the state's primary, secondary and urban roads.

The governor also noted that the orderly advancement of our state and national highway program promises a sharp reduction in the tragic waste of human and economic resources. It has been conservatively estimated that modern highways can return their costs threefold in direct benefits to the users, such as safety, time savings and motoring economy.

A special Highway Week program is being arranged for representatives of Maine's news media in the Augusta-Bangor area on Monday, October 5, including a preview trip over Interstate 95 between Newport and Fairfield. This section is scheduled to be opened to public traffic October 31.

dened buildings, the building code and mobile homes. Some indications were given that the building code might be made more specific, and enforced accordingly.

As to mobile homes, the subject is still a lively one in Bethel, although an ordinance regulating it was "passed over" when presented at the 1963 town meeting.

Also on the agenda was further consideration of having a professional planner do a survey of the town. Prior to the next meeting a copy of such a survey, done in another Maine town, will be circulated among board members for their study.

Next session of the board is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Oct. 13, in the selectmen's office.

TEACHERS TO ASSIST IN REPORTING PRESIDENTIAL VOTE

Returns of the presidential election in Maine will be flashed to news services by a volunteer corps of teachers, Clyde Russell, executive secretary of the Maine Teachers Association, has announced.

Mr. Russell said that MTA is cooperating in an arrangement requested by major news services and broadcasters, Associated Press, United Press International, and the ABC, NBC, and CBS broadcast networks.

The MTA Citizenship Committee, under the chairmanship of Supt. Lloyd D. Hatfield, York, is making arrangements to post a teacher, backed by an alternate in each of Maine's 629 voting precincts. As soon as polls close the teacher on duty will telephone returns to a Portland switchboard where they will be available to all news services and broadcasters. Teachers will report only the returns for the presidential and congressional races.

Mr. Russell said that this system will prevent early broadcasts of conflicting returns. Every news service will have the same results at the same time.

"We are gratified that the news services thought of teachers when they were looking for reliability and accuracy," he said. A similar method is being followed in other states.

Mr. Russell said although the teachers will act as volunteers, their joint services will earn use for the money that will advance the cause of Maine education.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The hard philosophical and political core of the Goldwater movement rests on the belief that in previous presidential contests the American people have been offered an excessive dose of "me-tooism," that great numbers of voters have had no place to go, that they deserve and want something very different, and that his year they are going to get just that.

Senator Goldwater's campaign, then, consists of providing the voters with "a choice, not an echo." President Johnson is doing precisely the same thing. As U. S. News & World Report puts the contest, "It's a sharply defined study in contrasts presented on presidential ballots this year. . . . The two men have conflicting ideas on almost every phase of the Presidency —in domestic problems, in international affairs, economic policy, defense, the whole role of Government." That has certainly been proven in the early campaign moves and speeches.

Take, for instance, one of the most important issues—that of permitting NATO commanders to order the use of certain kinds of nuclear weapons. Senator Goldwater has said, "I have suggested that a way must be developed to provide NATO with its own stock of small, tactical, nuclear battlefield weapons—what may be truly called conventional weapons." The President's answer was a direct, unmistakable rebuttal: "Make no mistake. There is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon." No one could ask for a greater difference than that on a question of major policy.

The President stands on his domestic record—on his successes with Congress and the state of the economy. The Goldwater position is that our prosperity is illusory, that it is based on false and dangerous fiscal premises, and that profound trouble is in the offing unless drastic changes are made. Again, the differences are fundamental, irreconcilable, and far-reaching.

The roles of the Vice President, the President's representatives in Congress and Senator Humphrey, will be important. They will do tough, down-to-earth in-fighting. Their opponents are all looked on as villains of the deepest dye—their supporters a collection of Sir Galahads.

So the choice, a real choice,
is here. Something like 70 million Americans will make the final decision.

COUPLE'S CLUB TO MEET

The meeting of the Methodist Couple's Club on Saturday, September 26th, at 7:30 p. m., will be held at the Church Annex rather than at the home of the Norman Docks, due to the anticipated large attendance.

Co-hostesses Mrs. Norman Dock, Mrs. Eldon Greenleaf and Mrs. Randal Stevens have planned an evening of follow-ship, including a lovely color film narrated by James Cagney, as well as a discussion of future Club plans. Refreshments will be served by the hostesses.

And so it goes—with civil rights legislation, with the war on poverty, with the whole question of what a central government should and should not do for and to its citizens, with local and individual rights and responsibilities.

There has been speculation that the President would conduct what is called, for want of a better term, a high-level campaign, making primary use of the White House and his office as a sounding board and employing TV as his principal tool. There is doubt now as to this, Mr. Johnson—like Senator Goldwater—was never one to hold back from the battlefronts when the political wars were on. It is also reported that he is dubious of the polls, which show him far in the lead, and means to use every instrument he can command to make his case and to make himself available to live audiences. That is what local groups, interested in governorships, congressional seats, and other lesser offices, want.

The roles of the Vice President, the President's representatives in Congress and Senator Humphrey, will be important. They will do tough, down-to-earth in-fighting. Their opponents are all looked on as villains of the deepest dye—their supporters a collection of Sir Galahads.

So the choice, a real choice,
is here. Something like 70 million Americans will make the final decision.

OXFORD COUNTY FARMS AIDED BY FARM OWNERSHIP LOANS

Credit needs of Oxford County farmers hindered by the problem of obtaining finances to develop and enlarge holdings necessary for a successful operation often may be met by a USDA Farmers Home Administration farm ownership loan.

In reporting this fact, Elwyn R. Morrow, FHA county supervisor, this week explained this is not just a local problem but a national one faced by thousands of farm families.

"Throughout the United States today are thousands of family farmers who require supervised credit for doing such important things as combining small land tracts, establishing permanent pastures, financing needed soil and water improvements, constructing or renovating dwellings and essential farm buildings or taking other necessary steps to increase their farm's income-producing capacity and efficiency," pointed out Mr. Morrow.

In general, agricultural producers facing this problem are in a group of some 1,000,000 farm operators who now gross from $2,500 to $10,000 annually and require additional income to remain on the farm under the present day's economic conditions.

"FHA farm ownership credit for enlarging and developing farms are tailored to meet the needs of individual farmers," explained Mr. Morrow.

Borrowers are also helped in analyzing their financial problems and given assistance in determining kinds and amounts of resources needed for success.

Three loans carry a 5 percent annual interest rate on the unpaid principal and are scheduled in equal principal and interest installments for repayment over a period not to exceed 40 years. It is the privilege of each farmer borrower to make additional payments during high income years in order to establish a reserve that may be used to keep the loan in good standing during low income periods.

Application for Farmers Home Administration loans may be made at Mr. Morrow's office at South Paris, Maine on Mondays of each week from 8 to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p. m.

McINTIRE STATES PERSONAL PLATFORM

"This I Believe," by Congressman Clifford McIntire (2nd District) candidate for the United States Senate:

Foreign Policy: I believe our lack of foreign policies—with the subsequent results of disaster in Cuba and Viet Nam, to name but two of the many hot spots in this world—is the greatest danger this nation faces.

Events of the past four years have proven that lack of policies and the coexistence attitude have hurt the prestige of the United States. There is something wrong when our flag is spat upon, our embassies are stoned, our citizens abroad are attacked and beaten.

I believe in putting the United States first. Peace can be achieved only when we live up to the responsibilities of leadership. Those who wish to bury us should know clearly that we will never trade freedom for slavery.

Foreign Aid: I believe that in our role as a leading nation of the world we must be responsive to the needs of friendly nations.

I do not believe that the United States should be the prime support of every nation on earth that wants only our dollars but not our friendship.

Over 100 billion American dollars have gone to friend and foe, often rewarding our enemies more than our friends.

This program needs major reform with a cut in cost to the taxpayer, a cut in red tape, and bureaucratic overhaul.

Trade With The Enemy: I believe it is wrong to do business with any nation whose goal is to destroy our system of government.

Those who espouse the sale of wheat to Russia on the grounds that it would help ease the flow of gold out of the United States have been deluded by the Democratic Administration.

Here again, the lack of national objectives has put this nation into a position where the long-range good is sacrificed for the short-term advantage.

I opposed the sale of wheat to Russia.

I am opposed to Russian consulates in this country.

I am opposed to the recognition of Red China.

GOULD CROSS COUNTRY PROSPECTS

The 1964 Gould Cross Country team faces the strongest list of contenders which they have ever met. Their ten meet schedule, culminating in the Western Maine Conference, Mountain Valley Conference and State meets, will find them matching strides with some of the most powerful teams in Western Maine. In spite of this awesome schedule, veteran coach Frank Vogt feels that he has grounds for optimism. Abandoning the coach's traditional pessimism he points to a veteran nucleus composed of six lettermen and six other ball carriers from last year's squad. Five new men have come out this year and he expects at least a couple of these to give the veterans a battle for honors.

Last year's lettermen are Captain Bruce Lane, Vaughan Dumas, Tom Chapman, Andy Mack, John Lombard and Ray Macomber.

Other returners are Paul Knight, Boyd Lane, Jack Brooks, Dave Carter, Warren Tibbets and Steve Moore.

Newcomers to the squad are Bob Everett, Lloyd Carter, Larry Fox, Mike Tibbets and Eugene Tibbets.

Phil Martin is the manager and is assisted by Gary Marten.

Gould will be defending its Western Maine Conference title.

THREE ENROLLMENT MARKS SET AT U. OF M.

Three all-time enrollment records have been established at the University of Maine, Registrar George H. Crosby states.

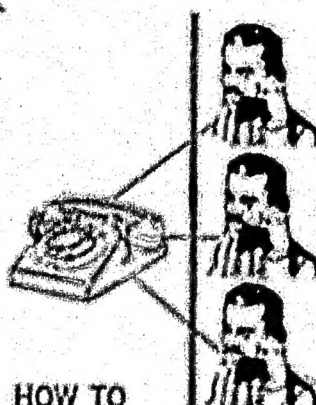

More students than ever before in the university's 100-year history have registered at the Orono campus, at the Portland campus, and at the two campuses combined.

The figures as of Tuesday a. m., Sept. 15, were as follows: Orono campus, 4,937; Portland campus, 518; combined, 5,455.

The old records, he said, are: Orono, 4,816; Portland, 470; combined, 5,282. All three were set last year.

All three totals for the present college year are expected to increase within the next few days, Crosby said, due to late registrations.

A breakdown of this fall's Orono campus enrollment of 4,937 is as follows: graduate students, 221; fifth-year students, 20; seniors, 1,027; juniors, 1,018; sophomores, 1,067; freshmen, 1,240; special students, 112; three-year nursing students, 40; unclassified degree candidates, 13; addition students, 5; two-year agriculture students, 80; and two-year students, 35.

PURCHASE ORDERS UNDER ACP

All ASCS county offices in Maine have been authorized to issue purchase orders under the 1965 Agricultural Conservation Program for approved forestry practices. These purchase orders will guarantee prompt payment by the Federal Government of a specified sum for a specified service. Under the old system, which will still be available for use, cost-share payments for conservation measures carried out in the fall cannot be made until the following July or August.

William C. Chapman, Chairman of the Oxford ASCS County Committee, says the new system will provide an opportunity for one or more people in each county to become vendors of such services as tree planting, weeding, thinning and pruning. Each farmer having an ACP approval selects the vendor of his choice and at his request, a purchase order is issued by the ASCS county committee. As soon as the job is completed, the vendor submits his claim to the county ASCS office and payment is made for the government's share of the cost. Chapman said vendors must have a good background knowledge of forestry and must be willing and able to perform their work according to ACP specifications. Service Foresters of the Maine Forest Service certify the need, practicability, and performance of all forestry practices under the ACP program in Maine.

In our neighboring state of New Hampshire, a number of professional foresters, experienced woods operators, and soil conservation districts are vendors of forestry services under the ACP program. They employ one or more small crews depending on the season and the demands. Warren Brown, Program Specialist at the Maine

IS ORGANIZING

ANNUAL APPEAL

The local Service Unit Committee for The Salvation Army is organizing its Annual Appeal for funds, according to local chairman, Donald S. Brown.

The gifts which are received are used both for local needs and to help support the Army's social and national programs for war veterans, children, aged, and those in various institutions.

Last Christmas every inmate in each of the state institutions received a sunshine basket containing candy, cookies, greeting card and other small gifts. Three little baskets brought much happiness to those who are forced to lead rather dreary lives.

The local committee retains twenty per cent of all gifts to meet with immediate welfare needs in Bethel and the surrounding area.

Members giving will result in an increase in service to those who are less fortunate. The Army's ability to secure the most good from each dollar has motivated that organization a high place in public opinion.

Gifts in any amount may be sent directly to the treasurer, Mrs. Judith H. Anderson, or they may be given to any member of the local committee.

They had been with Jesus. (Acts 4:13).

When we spend time with Jesus through studying His life and lessons, and through prayer, people recognize that we, too, have "been with Jesus." We are wise, but patient and kind in dealing with other persons. We are forgiving, free from criticism and condemnation. We gain a spiritual strength by practicing His teachings.
